

I am being bombarded with these type of calls. The calls take me away from the important things I need to do in the little time I have to do them. Also, their timing is uncanny as they seem to call when someone in my family is trying to reach me. Once I say "No Thank You" to them, they keep calling back and harass me, and they do get nasty. Please do not do away with the "Do Not Call List." Thank you for your consideration in this matter.
